Sibford Ferris and Sibford Gower and Burdrop Conservation Areas review.

Sibford Ferris Conservation Area was first designated in November 1985 and covers the older part of the village. The conservation area is now being reviewed and an appraisal document is being produced on the back of this work. Sibford Gower and Burdrop were similarly designated in January 2008; the conservation area is also in the process of being reviewed.

The character and appearance of the villages is created by the collective presence of everyday buildings from a mixture of periods. The buildings of Sibford Ferris, Sibford Gower and Burdrop are not only a social record but contribute to the character and appearance of the conservation area.

Designation aims to preserve and enhance the best of the past while allowing sympathetic, high-standard development in the future.

With the aid of the enclosed map, please answer the following two questions:

1. The boundaries of the Sibford Ferris and Sibford Gower with Burdrop conservation areas are shown on the enclosed map. Do you agree with this boundary?

☐

Yes

No

If not please annotate the map to show the changes you would like to see.

2. Which buildings do you think are special?
Please write the names of the buildings on the back of the map or mark the buildings on the map.

If you have any other comments please write these on the back of the map also. In due course a copy of the appraisal will be available for you to read and comment on. There will also be a public meeting and exhibition about this work to which you will be invited. In the meanwhile please send back the map to Cherwell District Council in the enclosed envelope.

Thank you.
